Metcalfe was allowed to give the court an outline of the theory of evolution, but the jury was excluded and state attorneys interposed an objection to this line of evidence.

CHARRED REMAINS OF VICTIM WERE BURIED YESTERDAY

Sioux Falls, S. D., July 16.—"The wages of sin—the wages of sin."

All through the long night Winifred Meeks, murderer of his unfortunate sweetheart Beryl Healy, sobbed at intervals in a receiving cell at the South Dakota state penitentiary.

Not until he was alone did the stalwart youth give vent to his emotions.

A night warden, one of the guards who slipped noiselessly down the long corridor of the stark prison to observe prisoners said Winifred sobbed to himself in the dim light of his cell.

His head buried in his hands, he mumbled over his fate—"the wages of sin," in an almost inaudible monotone.

Early this morning the six-foot boy was "dressed in." He was fitted with a two-piece suit and given a number by which he will be known hereafter for the remainder of his natural life. He was to be "mugged" later today and his picture with the usual identification will be broadcast for Bertillon files throughout the country.

Winifred pleaded guilty Wednesday to a charge of murdering his pretty little 17-year-old Garden City sweetheart. He said he killed her because she preferred death to motherhood of his child. He swung a tire iron on her head and choked her with her own scarf. He buried her body in a straw stack and later burned it.

This afternoon the charred remains of the little girl were buried in a little cemetery just outside Garden City. She was a motherless little girl and her father, John Healy and one sister were the mourners at her bier.

Out in the country four miles north of Garden City, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Meeks returned to toil amid the crops. Their only son started on a life of hard labor in the penitentiary.

Not until he was alone did the stalwart youth give vent to his emotions.

A night warden, one of the guards who slipped noiselessly down the long corridor of the stark prison to observe prisoners said Winfred sobbed to himself in the dim light of his cell.

His head buried in his hands, he mumbled over his fate—"the wages of sin," in an almost inaudible monotone.

Early this morning the six-foot boy was "dressed in." He was fitted with a two-piece suit and given a number by which he will be known hereafter for the remainder of his natural life. He was to be "mugged" later today and his picture with the usual identification will be broadcast for Bertillon files throughout the country.

Winfred pleaded guilty Wednesday to a charge of murdering his pretty little 17-year-old Garden City sweetheart. He said he killed her because she preferred death to motherhood of his child. He swung a tire iron on her head and choked her with her own scarf. He buried her body in a straw stack and later burned it.

This afternoon the charred remains of the little girl were buried in a little cemetery just outside Garden City. She was a motherless little girl and her father, John Healy and one sister were the mourners at her bier.

Out in the country four miles north of Garden City, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Meeks returned to toil amid the crops. Their only son started on a life of hard labor in the penitentiary.

In a Spirit of Fair Dealing:

A bank and its depositors have certain obligations to each other. Banking relations are mutually profitable and ideal when these obligations are scrupulously observed. They are outlined briefly below:

The Bank's Obligations

THE BANK'S first obligation is that of keeping in position to meet depositors' demands for the return of their funds.

That implies adhering strictly to the principles of safety. The bank necessarily regards its deposits as a sacred trust. Therefore, it must lend deposits where they will stimulate industry and yet be collectible when due. The bank must be conservative even while considering well-laid plans of depositors for business extension. The encouragement of unsound plans may result in disaster to the depositor whom the bank desires to help.

The bank must always maintain a fine balance between constructiveness and conservatism.

The bank is obligated to give kindly consideration to the needs of depositors whether their interests be large or small; and to lend the weight of its counsel and support to the depositor whose dealings are small, but none the less important to him.

The spirit of regard for each other's interests makes for mutual confidence and lasting friendship between the Bank and its depositors.

JUDGE MAY THROW 1,500 LIQUOR CASES OUT OF COURT

San Francisco, July 16.—Dismissal of several hundred defendants charged with violations of the prohibition amendment appeared imminent today as a result of the action of United States District Judge John S. Partidge holding illegal search warrants obtained by "under cover" agents in affidavits signed by other than the true names of the persons swearing out the warrants.

Assistant District Attorney Thomas J. Riordan, said the decision affects virtually all of the liquor cases accumulated in this district over a period of many months and totalling close to 1,500. Riordan said he did not intend to carry the case to the United States court of appeals.

The decision is believed by federal court attaches to set a precedent which is likely to have far reaching effect in the prosecution of liquor cases in this and other states. Prohibition operatives here have for a long period followed the practice of signing fictitious names to affidavits in obtaining search warrants, the records show.

MISSIONARY WORK IN CROW WING COUNTY

W. J. SMITH, local missionary of the American Sunday School Union, has proven that daily vacation Bible schools can be held with great success in rural communities. These schools last for a period of ten days or two weeks in each neighborhood. They are called vacation Bible schools, because they meet during the vacation season.

The purpose of these schools is to teach the Bible, and awaken in these boys and girls a desire for spiritual things. They provide an intensive period of training and character building through the study of God's word. A ten days' program for juniors, and a ten days' program for primaries have been prepared by the American Sunday School Union for use in these schools. The schools thus far held in W. J. Smith's field have been taught by young students from the Northwestern Bible and Missionary Training School, Minneapolis. They are thoroughly consecrated young people, and have had a special training for this work, and they consider it a rare privilege to be able to spend their vacation in this way. On the closing day of each school a program is arranged with a demonstration of what the children have learned in two weeks, and the results are really marvelous.

The Master said, "Suffer the children to come unto Me," or, in other words, give them a chance. All that the average child needs is a chance to prove that they love Christ and better things. But the pity of it all is that so many bright boys and girls are deprived of that chance. One thing, perhaps as valuable as any thing else accomplished by these schools, is to bring the Bible and religious topics into the every day life and thought, both of the child and of the home, and a ten days' vacation Bible school for children will readily work a change for the better in any community, and bring joy to many hearts.

Five of these schools have already been held in Missionary Smith's field since June 1 and two others are now going. This work, which is just in its infancy in the rural districts, is sure to become a life line to the children in many of these neglected and uncared for communities.

NEWSPAPER ETHICS

THE National Editorial Association recently enunciated a code of ethics which has attracted much discussion and favorable comment.

"We believe in the newspaper profession, that every newspaper is a public service institution deriving its power and usefulness from those who read it, that those who enter the calling should be trained men and women, prepared to devote their lives to the best interests of the people in unselfish service.

"We believe that every newspaper should be a loyal supporter of the Constitution of the United States and an advocate of the enforcement of law.

"We believe that nothing should be printed in a newspaper which may not be read in the home.

"We believe that truth should be set as the standard for every newspaper in news, editorial, advertisement and circulation.

"We believe that only such newspapers as strive to maintain the highest ideals of truth, justice, honesty, fairness and decency in all departments deserve the support of the people and we pledge ourselves to maintain as best we may these standards."

These principles, in general, were enunciated by the late President Harding in the conduct of his paper, the Marion Star.

CHAPLIN'S BAGGY PANTS

CHARLIE CHAPLIN, who sought to restrain Charles Amador from imitating his baggy pants, has lost his case. One fails to see how Chaplin can claim a patent on baggy pants, which from time immemorial has stamped the attire of many a country editor. Ages ago the country editor wore the wide and comfortable pantaloons, a half-century ago foreshadowing what is now hailed as an exclusive English fashion.

It's a wonder Chaplin doesn't try to restrain some of us from wearing suspenders. We think Chaplin's taste for litigation is an expensive one and that he is trying to cover too much ground in his seeking restraining orders.

The court, in the Amador case, has correctly held that taste in hats and trousers may not be legitimately restrained and that Amador may wear what he pleases.

FASHION'S EDICT

"MORE leg and less neck," is what we kids told ma when she was dishing out the spring chicken. The heading "More Leg and Less Neck," seen in a widespread news article, now refers to the type of dresses to be worn by the girls.

It means that skirts are to be shorter and that what is gained by shortening this garment is to be used, probably, to add more covering to the girls' necks. People who know, says girls have been awfully extravagant in exposing their necks, and next autumn necks are to be covered. Nothing, however, has been said about the girls' ears.

AN EXAGGERATED OPINION

THE opinion has been expressed by some people that Christianity is on trial at Dayton, Tennessee; that the results of that trial will be world-wide in effect, etc., etc.

People at that trial and taking part in it have various ideas of its importance. Candidly, we do not believe it will affect any man's belief. A trial with William Jennings Bryan prosecuting and Clarence Darrow defending will neither bolster up Christianity nor mow it down.

The real issue of that trial concerns the right to teach certain subjects in Tennessee schools. Shall the taxpayers have a voice in selection of studies to be taught?

FRANK DAY, publisher of the Fairmont Sentinel, was recently operated on for hernia, and his condition is described by his physicians as good. We hope Mr. Day will soon recover, for we can't imagine such a thing as a Sentinel without Day's cheerful comment.

Several Swedish companies are active in promoting the development of air routes and considerable public interest is focused on this means of travel. A large company is reported to have been formed recently with German and Swiss capital for the purpose of amalgamating all the air transport lines into "one network managed and operated under one organization."

SPORTS PROGRAM ARRANGED

To be a Family Picnic, Each Family to Bring Its Own Basket
Dinner

Lake Region Forest, No. 58, Tall Cedars of Lebanon, will hold its annual picnic on Sunday, July 26th, the place to be decided in the meantime.

A large committee has been appointed to handle this affair, which is planned to be the largest gathering of its kind in Masonic circles this season.

The festivities will include a sports program for old and young, ladies and gentlemen, with prizes for the winners in each event.

This is to be a family picnic, each family to bring its own basket dinner. Coffee, cream and sugar will be furnished by the lodge, as will also lemonade and other soft drinks.

The picnic is to be for all members of the Tall Cedars, and their families. It is expected that there will be many in attendance from the range towns and surrounding villages. Sufficient advance notice is being given so that all may mark the date on their calendars and reserve it for this event. Details of the picnic will be announced later.

AIRPLANES TO TELL
OF N. W. AIR MAIL

St. Paul, July 16.—Three airplanes will leave the Twin Cities about Aug. 1 to spread the gospel of the air mail into the neighboring communities of the northwest.

The flight, sponsored by business men of both cities, will extend over a period of four days and will cover northern Minnesota and North and South Dakota.

Landings will be made at about 15 towns where the importance of the air mail to business development will be explained to residents of the communities.

Marvin A. Northrup, president of the Northrup Flying field, Robbinsdale, Minn., will donate the three planes to be used in the flight. The planes will carry six passengers in addition to the three pilots: one representative of the St. Paul Association, one of the Minneapolis Civic and Commerce association, one newspaper correspondent who will represent all papers in the Twin Cities, one mechanic and two representatives of each city.

The purpose of the flight, the first of its kind in the history of the state, is to better acquaint business men of the surrounding country with the fact that St. Paul and Minneapolis will be but a day from New York when the cities are linked with the transcontinental air mail line at Chicago.

THE STATE FAIR'S
ATTRACTIVE PREMIUM
LIST OFFERED

The Minnesota State Fair and Northwest Dairy Exposition, September 5 to 12, is offering $141,937.50 in premiums for educational exhibits, which is $11,000 more than the total prizes presented by any other state fair or exposition in the world this year.

Since agriculture and livestock raising are our two greatest Northwest industries, the premiums for livestock, agriculture, horticulture, and allied exhibits, are unusually large. Cattle are given $28,798; agriculture, $19,833; horses, $19,880; horticulture, $7,756; swine, $6,200; sheep, goats and wool, $4,902; and poultry, $2,967.

No other fair in America has given such encouragement to boys' and girls' club work, and the premiums for this purpose amount to $19,301.50 this year. More than 1,000 boys and girls will attend the fair to demonstrate club work projects at the fair's expense. The dairy, speed, bee culture, fine arts, and woman's work departments are given the balance of prizes.

It is the plan of the state fair this season to encourage the largest entry of Minnesota products of all kinds ever seen at the fair. The competition of exhibitors from other states has always been keener in the livestock department than any other, and the fair is making a special effort to interest Minnesota breeders in sending their best animals to the coming show that the lion's share of premiums may not be won by outside entrants.

The excellent crop conditions throughout the Northwest, which insure splendid exhibits and large attendance, are interesting exhibitors from all parts of the country in the MINNESOTA STATE FAIR, and record-breaking shows seem to be assured.

GAS TAX WORKS WELL,
GRAVEL ROADS NEEDED

(Crookston Times)
The operation of the gasoline tax seems highly successful. The first month's returns seem to indicate that it will result in the collection of about a million dollars a year more money than was figured on, and the highway program will be speeded up to that extent. After the first few days everyone forgot about it, and it is about the most painless form of taxation for road improvement that has ever been devised.

The cost of automobile travel per mile has been reduced from ten cents on the old-style country roads to six or seven cents on the gravel roads, and to about five cents a mile on the pavements. The total cost of the present gas tax would be somewhat under two-tenths of a cent per mile. If more roads could be improved, by paying a higher gas tax, it is obvious that it would be profitable to do so. A gas tax that would amount to about a cent a mile would soon put most of the roads in the state in the six and seven cent class and make traveling cheaper and more comfortable.

This part of the state needs gravel roads, and many of them, to make automobile travel cheaper and more comfortable. Might as well embrace the idea of putting more expense in the road and less expense in the car. You are going to come to it sooner or later—why not sooner?

Girl Gained 7 Pounds
Nine Years an Invalid

That's just what McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets did for the Babcock girl—and is doing as much for tens of thousands of thin, underweight, weak and discouraged people all over America.

These sugar coated, pleasant to take tablets should be given to children instead of the vile stomach upsetting oil itself—they surely do help the frail, delicate little ones and 60 tablets cost but 60 cents at H. P. Dunn's, Johnson's Pharmacy or any real druggist anywhere in America.

Read this letter if you have a child that needs to gain health and strength.

"My little girl was stricken with infantile paralysis when she was 5 months old and was an invalid for 9 years—when I saw an ad in the paper that McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets would build up wasted tissues. I bought a box and she gained very slowly at first and after taking eight boxes, she gained seven pounds. Reginald Barker's "The White Desert," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picturization of Courtney Ryley Cooper's novel, coming to the Lyceum theatre on Sunday, bears every indication of being the thrill director's most gripping film to date. The picture depicts the hardships incurred by a construction company in drilling a tunnel through the snow-swept region of the Rockies; and was filmed in the actual locations called for in the story.

Marian Nixon Portrays Dashing Role With Mix

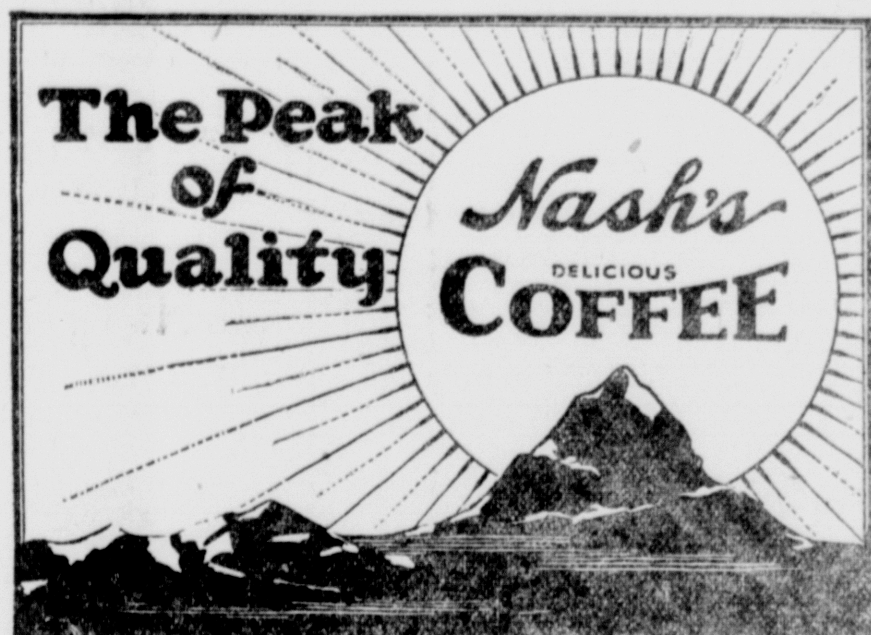

Marian Nixon, one of the most prominent "Baby Stars" selected by the Western Associated Motion Picture Advertisers two years ago, is a baby no longer. Today she is a star in her own right. She recently finished playing the role of Jim Lassiter's niece in the William Fox production, "Riders of the Purple Sage," based on one of Zane Grey's greatest novels. Tom Mix is starred in this production which is showing at the Lyceum tonight and Friday.

Cameos

The word "cameo" is not the name of a gem. It is merely a method of cutting. In other words, any hard substance or gem can be made into a cameo, although usually onyx, sardonyx, agate and ivory are used.

TOM MIX

Now-a One-Profit Car
in the Quality Field

STUDEBAKER has achieved one-profit manufacture in the quality field. This marks a new era in the automobile industry. Studebaker's achievement eliminates unnecessary profits running up to $500 on a single car. It banishes double overhead. It results in quantity production of quality cars. It vitally affects pricing by establishing a new criterion of value in the fine car field.

TWENTY-FIVE years ago practically all "manufacturers" of automobiles were nothing more than assemblers. They purchased motors, bodies, tops, axles, etc., from parts makers who were the manufacturers in reality.

On this basis it was easy to become an automobile "manufacturer," and more than five hundred makes of automobiles have had their day in the American market and disappeared. They are represented only by "orphan cars" with practically no resale value.

Notwithstanding this writing on the wall many manufacturers still assemble their product, piling profit upon profit for the ultimate purchaser to pay. Each profit which a maker pays to a body builder or parts supplier enters into his costs just as though he had spent the money for steel or plate glass or upholstery. Although it represents no value he not only passes it on to the purchaser but figures his own profit on top of it.

The Ford is a one-profit car and reigns supreme in its field.

In the fine car field Studebaker—and Studebaker alone—now offers the American public one-profit values.

During the past seven years, when demand exceeded supply, Studebaker has been plowing earnings back into plants and machinery until we are now able to make this announcement.

Foundries, stamping mills, machine shops, are now complete. As final links in the chain of one-profit production, the enormous Studebaker body plants have been operating for months at peak capacity. Resources totaling one hundred million dollars are concentrated on the production of this one-profit car.

No other individual manufacturer in the world (except Ford) possesses such facilities for the complete manufacture of automobiles.

That is why Studebaker is able to put finer steel, finer wood, finer upholstery, better workmanship, hundreds of thousands of miles of re-

Why Studebaker is the "one-profit" car

There are more than 60 makes of passenger cars built in the United States, but very few are manufactured complete in the plants of the producers who sell them.

Only 42 build all their own motors—and one of the 42 is Studebaker.

Of the 42 which claim to make their own motors only 14 make the iron castings, stampings and forgings which go into their motors—and one of the 14 is Studebaker.

Only 5 make all their own bodies and one of the 5 is Studebaker.

Only 2 make all their own motors, bodies, clutches, springs, axles, gear sets, differentials and steering gear. One of these 2 is Studebaker and the other is Ford.

serve transportation; into every car—yet keep down the price to you.

This sound manufacturing principle not only holds down price, but it insures a better car regardless of price. The car is not a patchwork, but a unit.

Last year at the New York and Chicago automobile shows four well-known automobile manufacturers exhibited coaches mounted with the same body—a body made from the identical dies, jigs and fixtures. Certainly these manufacturers must have sacrificed engineering advantages in chassis construction to accommodate this "standardized" coach body built by an outside supplier.

Contrast this with Studebaker, where the entire car is designed and built as a unit—and engineered complete. This construction means (1) longer life—(2) greater comfort in riding—(3) greater freedom from repair expense—(4) greater resale value.

With the advent of this one-profit-one-overhead plan of motor car manufacture, it is folly today to buy a car by the same comparisons you used yesterday. Today you must measure all cars with this "one-profit" Studebaker.

One-fourth of all American passenger cars built today belong in the fine car field—a total of 57 different makes selling above one thousand dollars.

There are 21 Studebaker body styles available on three different chassis. The Standard Six Models, 113-inch wheelbase, 50 h.p. engine, $1125 to $1600 f.o.b. factory. The Special Six Models, 120-inch wheelbase, 65 h.p. engine, $1450 to $2120 f.o.b. factory. And the Big Six Models, 127-inch wheelbase, 75 h.p. engine, $1875 to $2650 f.o.b. factory.

And you may buy your Studebaker today with the assurance that it will not be arbitrarily stigmatized by any act of ours as a "last year's model." Instead of spectacular annual announcements of "new yearly models," Studebaker has adopted the policy of keeping its cars up-to-date in body styles and chassis design every day in the year. Therefore, buy your Studebaker now!

Marian Nixon Portrays Dashing Role With Mix

Marian Nixon, one of the most prominent "Baby Stars" selected by the Western Associated Motion Picture Advertisers two years ago, is a baby no longer. Today she is a star in her own right. She recently finished playing the role of Jim Lassiter's niece in the William Fox production, "Riders of the Purple Sage," based on one of Zane Grey's greatest novels. Tom Mix is starred in this production which is showing at the Lyceum tonight and Friday.

Miss Nixon, who is a native of Minneapolis, received her early stage training in stock and vaudeville in preparation for her screen career.

Cameos

The word "cameo" is not the name of a gem. It is merely a method of cutting. In other words, any hard substance or gem can be made into a cameo, although usually onyx, sardonyx, agate and ivory are used.

Now-a One-Profit Car in the Quality Field

STUDEBAKER has achieved one-profit manufacture in the quality field. This marks a new era in the automobile industry. Studebaker's achievement eliminates unnecessary profits running up to $500 on a single car. It banishes double overhead. It results in quantity production of quality cars. It vitally affects pricing by establishing a new criterion of value in the fine car field.

TWENTY-FIVE years ago practically all "manufacturers" of automobiles were nothing more than assemblers. They purchased motors, bodies, tops, axles, etc., from parts makers who were the manufacturers in reality.

On this basis it was easy to become an automobile "manufacturer," and more than five hundred makes of automobiles have had their day in the American market and disappeared. They are represented only by "orphan cars" with practically no resale value. Notwithstanding this writing on the wall many manufacturers still assemble their product, piling profit upon profit for the ultimate purchaser to pay. Each profit which a maker pays to a body builder or parts supplier enters into his costs just as though he had spent the money for steel or plate glass or upholstery. Although it represents no value he not only passes it on to the purchaser but figures his own profit on top of it.

The Ford is a one-profit car and reigns supreme in its field.

In the fine car field Studebaker—and Studebaker alone—now offers the American public one-profit values.

During the past seven years, when demand exceeded supply, Studebaker has been plowing earnings back into plants and machinery until we are now able to make this announcement.

Foundries, stamping mills, machine shops, are now complete. As final links in the chain of one-profit production, the numerous Studebaker body plants have been operating for months at peak capacity. Resources totaling one hundred million dollars are concentrated on the production of this one-profit car.

No other individual manufacturer in the world (except Ford) possesses such facilities for the complete manufacture of automobiles.

That is why Studebaker is able to put finer steel, finer wood, finer upholstery, better workmanship, hundreds of thousands of miles of re-

Why Studebaker is the "one-profit" car

There are more than 60 makes of passenger cars built in the United States, but very few are manufactured complete in the plants of the producers who sell them.

Only 42 build all their own motors—and one of the 42 is Studebaker.

Of the 42 which claim to make their own motors only 14 make the iron castings, stampings and forgings which go into their motors—and one of the 14 is Studebaker.

Only 5 make all their own bodies and one of the 5 is Studebaker.

Only 2 make all their own motors, bodies, clutches, springs, axles, gear sets, differentials and steering gear. One of these 2 is Studebaker and the other is Ford.

serve transportation; into every car—yet keep down the price to you.

This sound manufacturing principle not only holds down price, but it insures a better car regardless of price. The car is not a patchwork, but a unit.

Last year at the New York and Chicago automobile shows four well-known automobile manufacturers exhibited coaches mounted with the same body—a body made from the identical dies, jigs and fixtures. Certainly these manufacturers must have sacrificed engineering advantages in chassis construction to accommodate this "standardized" coach body built by an outside supplier.

Contrast this with Studebaker, where the entire car is designed and built as a unit—and engineered complete. This construction means (1) longer life—(2) greater comfort in riding—(3) greater freedom from repair expense—(4) greater resale value.

With the advent of this one-profit-one-overhead plan of motor car manufacture, it is folly today to buy a car by the same comparisons you used yesterday. Today you must measure all cars with this "one-profit" Studebaker.

One-fourth of all American passenger cars built today belong in the fine car field—a total of 57 different makes selling above one thousand dollars.

There are 21 Studebaker body styles available on three different chassis. The Standard Six Models, 113-inch wheelbase, 50 h.p. engine, $1125 to $1600 f.o.b. factory. The Special Six Models, 120-inch wheelbase, 65 h.p. engine, $1450 to $2120 f.o.b. factory. And the Big Six Models, 127-inch wheelbase, 75 h.p. engine, $1875 to $2650 f.o.b. factory.

And you may buy your Studebaker today with the assurance that it will not be arbitrarily stigmatized by any act of ours as a "last year's model." Instead of spectacular annual announcements of "new yearly models," Studebaker has adopted the policy of keeping its cars up-to-date in body styles and chassis design every day in the year. Therefore, buy your Studebaker now!

Semi-Annual Meeting Held—White Line Road No. 10 is Taken Over

NOW SUBMITTED TO BABCOCK

Inland Trail Will Make Splendid Detour When Gull Lake Road is Hard Paved

The board of county commissioners held its semi-annual meeting on Monday, July 13th.

The board adopted a resolution, taking over white line road No. 10, making it State Road No. 6. This matter must be submitted to the state commissioner of highways, Charles Babcock, for his confirmation, before the change can be made.

White line road No. 10 starts at a point one and one-half miles north of Merrifield, on State Road No. 3, and goes north to Breezy Point, then west to Pequot. It is better known locally as the "Inland Trail."

White line roads are those built by the individual townships, but maintained by the county. Much maintenance has been done on No. 10, and a great deal of travel goes over the road, since it affords the shortest route by nearly 10 miles from Brainerd to Breezy Point.

Should the state highway department consider the resolutions drafted by the county commissioners, the road would be made a State Road, which means that it would receive state aid in improving and maintaining it. It would also offer a good detour at such a time that the Gull lake road, Trunk Highway No. 19, should be repaired or hard surfaced.

The resolution also asked that the state aid on the new State Road No. 6 be set at 40 per cent instead of the usual 30 per cent as on other state aid roads.

Walter M. Murphy, county highway engineer, submitted his semi-annual report, for the work done in his department. This report showed that the overdraft in the road and bridge account has been reduced over $25,000 since January 1st of this year.

The county commissioners authorized the construction of a bridge over Daggett brook, on the township line between the townships of Daggett Brook and Platte Lake. The bridge is to be built under the direction of the county highway engineer.

The commissioners considered the usual number of applications for abatement, and allowed a large grant of sundry bills.

On Monday, July 20th, the commissioners will sit as a joint board of equalization and board of county commissioners.

TWO OUT OF FIRST SIX FOR UNITED STATES

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, July 16.—American entries did only fairly well in the early season international skirmishes. Two victories in six major competitions were the best the United States could get and those two victories were of the synthetic variety.

The United States scored when Jim Barnes won the British open golf championship and when the United States Army team defeated the British team for the international military cup.

Barnes, however, is a native of England, even if he is a citizen of the United States, and that removed some of the wind from the cheers, and the Army polo team was badly beaten by the Indian team of the Maharajah of Jodhpur.

The Americans did fairly well in the Wimbledon tennis championships and the real purpose of sending the two youngsters to try for the British title was achieved in that they gained valuable experience. That does not count on the score card, however.

Miss Glenna Collett also scored a personal triumph in the British woman's golf championship, but Miss Joyce Wethered won the championship and the victor has to be credited to England. Miss Collett, however, won the French golf championship.

The American entries did not distinguish themselves in the British amateur golf championships, but our best players were not entered as no formidable raid was arranged by the golf association.

The big honors in rowing also went to England when Jack Beresford, the British star, won the classic Diamond Sculls after he had beaten Walter Hoover, the American, in the semi-final heat of the trials.

Beresford's victory was somewhat of a surprise as Hoover is a very fine oarsman.

At the end of the season the score may be more favorable as the United States teams are almost certain to win the Wightman (tennis) Cup and the classic Davis Cup, and the amateur golf championship is not likely to be taken away by any English players.

30—Learning Why a Swing Is Correct.

The main reason why the skill of the average golfer remains at such a low ebb is that he or she does not know how to make the stroke. Much of this is occasioned by the fact that there has been no expert instruction and much of the remainder is due to the fact that continuous play without thoughtful practice has let variations of the right form creep in until the player often is worse off than with no previous instruction. He has forgotten, or never knew, that the secret of skill in golf is to adopt the best form possible and never to make any variation from it. There is nothing truer than that the expert has attained his or her skill because of the ability indelibly to duplicate a good swing.

It also is a fact that 51 per cent or more of the ability of the star golfer is because of his ability to think. Players of the ability of Walter Hagen and Chick Evans come very close to doing the exact thing over and over when the circumstances are practically the same. In driving practice balls from a tee, for instance, it is highly probable that moving pictures of them would not show any perceptible variation, provided there were no adverse wind conditions. If the wind is variable, one might see a slight variation in grip or stance or in the height of the swing. Jack Hutchinson, for instance, has a natural flat swing. If he is faced with a head wind from the tee, his only change, in order to keep the ball low, is still further to flatten his swing. Hagen and Evans make no perceptible change when they want a low ball except to stand an inch or two further forward with reference to the line of flight.

Even such slight variations as these are not recommended to the average player. One must be far ahead of the average class to get any benefit from a change of the regular methods. The well-advised average player will stick close to the methods which he has found best for his particular case. Otherwise the case will correspond to that of Joe Kirkwood, who might easily have become a world's champion if he had not experimented with every possible way of making a shot until his weakness is that he knows too many ways of making any shot.

WOMAN SENDS NOTE TO GOV. JOHNSON, DEAD FOR 16 YEARS

St. Paul, July 16.—A letter of protest, addressed to Gov. John A. Johnson, was received at the state capitol today.

Since the late Gov. Johnson has been dead 16 years, it was forwarded to Gov. Christianson's office. The letter was from Lulu Peterson of Austin, and it contained a newspaper clipping reporting a misunderstanding at Brownsdale, nearby, when a town marshal nearly arrested a policeman and a deputy sheriff.

The two suspects, it developed, had only been sniffing the liquor they had in their possession, officially.

"I am sending you a little notice in regard to some of your officers obeying the law," the letter said. "Have they got a right to take a sniff of liquor when they find it?"

SUNDAY EVENT AT BRAINERD COUNTRY CLUB

"TOURIST DAY" GOLF TOURNAMENT PROMISES TO BE LARGELY ATTENDED

JULY 19 PROMISES TO BE DAY LONG TO BE REMEMBERED BY GOLFERS

Favors for every tourist participating in the "Tourist Day" tournament at the Brainerd Country Club on Sunday, is the latest development in the plans being made by the committee in charge. Everything for the pleasure of the tourist has been included in the arrangements, so that Sunday will be a day long remembered by the summer visitors.

Edward J. Egan, chairman of the tournament committee, has written the following open letter to those who are to be the guests of the Country club on Sunday:

Brainerd Country Club,
Brainerd, Minn.,
July 17, 1925.

Golf Tourists:

I just want to remind you for the last time of the Golf Tournament on the Brainerd course Sunday afternoon, July 19th, at 1:30 P. M. Jack Krekelberg has been gathering in prizes for two weeks. We have prizes for first, second and third.

most birdies, most pars, largest hole score, largest course score.

I asked Jack the other night what to do with the other prizes. He said, "Number them, and give them to the tourists as they come in." Now, I want you tourists to help me. I bet Jack a box of cigars that he couldn't get prizes enough. He said he would have one for every tourist there. It's up to you tourists to help me win that box of cigars, so everybody be on hand Sunday afternoon.

Just a word to the Brainerd players. We want to send off two tourists and two Brainerd players in each foursome. I am afraid at the last minute we will have to send to Little Falls for players to help out the Brainerd side. So every member of the club get out there Sunday. Your Grounds Committee has done a lot of work this year, and you can repay them by packing the course Sunday.

Remember, everybody, the course is open all day, and no ground fee will be charged. Marv Smith thinks we ought to have that eighty to the north of us for another nine holes. Let's show him Sunday that he needs the whole section.

Tournament Committee,
Edward J. Egan, Chairman.

They will do their stuff in the tank of the Duluth Boat club. The visitors will swim under the colors of the Illinois Athletic club, holder of more swimming records than all other clubs in America combined.

DULUTH TO HAVE SWIMMING STARS IN TANK MEET

Duluth, July 16.—The world's greatest swimming marvel will be in Duluth next Monday as an opening day attraction for the exposition of progress and iron ore golden jubilee.

He is Johnny Weismuller, the 22-year-old Chicago chap, who has amazed the world by his great speed in the water. He holds 54 world records and has been breaking marks so fast that it is difficult to keep his books up to date.

With him will be the members of the 1923 Olympic team, Bobby Skelton, world's breast stroke champion; Conrad Mila, world's best back stroke swimmer, and "Stubby" Kruger, one of the world's best all-around swimmers and divers.

They will do their stuff in the tank of the Duluth Boat club. The visitors will swim under the colors of the Illinois Athletic club, holder of more swimming records than all other clubs in America combined.

WOMAN SENDS NOTE TO GOV. JOHNSON, DEAD FOR 16 YEARS

St. Paul, July 16.—A letter of protest, addressed to Gov. John A. Johnson, was received at the state capitol today.

Since the late Gov. Johnson has been dead 16 years, it was forwarded to Gov. Christianson's office. The letter was from Lulu Peterson of Austin, and it contained a newspaper clipping reporting a misunderstanding at Brownsdale, nearby, when a town marshal nearly arrested a policeman and a deputy sheriff.

The two suspects, it developed, had only been sniffing the liquor they had in their possession, officially.

"I am sending you a little notice in regard to some of your officers obeying the law," the letter said. "Have they got a right to take a sniff of liquor when they find it?"
